

A couple of bowls that started out as a 5 X 5 X 5 cube of maple / walnut / maple. I was going to do a box and was thinking about the orientation when I remembered a video using a cube. It turned out to be a multi axis turning and I wound up with these. About 5 X 5 X 2.25. It was a fun project. Slow and steady and making sure I understood the process.

My wife Janet says they look like man bowls. No, she can't explain why?. Who knew man bowls were even a thing?
